

The Wooden Hot Tub – Wood-Fired

All our wood-fired wooden Hot Tubs are supplied with 4.3 cm thick walls and are delivered to your home completely preassembled. You need to consider the following when purchasing a wooden Hot Tub:

- A wooden Hot Tub should generally always remained filled with water, otherwise the Tub will dry out and can start to show cracks (leaks);
- Make sure the water in the Tub always stays clean and thereby prevent the wooden walls becomes slippery;
- You must either ensure a good filtration installation is installed, or the water must be changed every other week.

Please consider one of our other Hot Tubs if you feel the above might present you with a problem.

We can supply our wooden Tubs in Spruce, Larch, Oak or Red Cedar in virtually any required size. Our Tubs can also be supplied with both upright walls as well as slanting walls (Tapered).

Left : Upright

Right : Slanting wall

Our wooden Tubs are supplied with a stainless steel woodstove (2 mm thick plate) as standard, but we would recommend going for an Aluminium stove (same price) with larger models from 180 cm in diameter. Aluminium heats the water up faster.

The Tubs are also equipped with: wooden cover (2 part), protective cover around the stove, including a drinks tray, spacious wooden seats all around, steps, a seating edge all round if required and a water drainage set.

Additional options and possibilities:

We can offer a variety of custom made options as a result of our own production facilities, including:

- extra wide seats;
- various steps variants, steps around the bath, steps with a built in filtration system, etc.
- beautiful seating edge finish in a variety of possible variants;
- built in bubble systems;
- lighting;

Prices include VAT and delivery (in Euros – based on an internal stove):
